Spiraling gold prices blamed for 2 breakins

By BOB AMEEN
ANP Staff Writer

The meteoric rise in the price of gold and silver may have precipitated two robberies in Van Buren Township last week that netted thieves some $34,000 in jewelry and family heirlooms, police believe.

According to Det. Tim Glaab of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, both breaking and entering cases occurred on Tuesday, most probably in the afternoon.

Glaab investigated the scene of the largest robbery — $27,000 in valuable gold items — on Elwell Road. He said thieves had tried open a side door to gain entry.

He gave description of some of the stolen merchandise in the hope that individuals approached to buy them will recognize the articles and report the information to his office at 721-2222.

Stolen from the residence on Elwell Road was a .30-30 Golden Spike Centennial rifle, a .30-30 Winchester Buffalo Bill Commemorative rifle, a Baretta Silver Snipe over and under 12 gauge shotgun, a Fischer stereo component system, assorted jewelry and two family heirlooms.

Glaab said the man who owned the house was given a large, gold pocket watch, which had belonged to his grandfather and which dated back to the Boar War in South Africa. The watch had the initials "A. E. T." inscribed on it and had several Queen Victoria medals attached to the watch fob it was carried on, he said.

Also highly prized by the owner was another fob and gold watch. The fob carried the name of the "Dominion Convention Co." and had 10 small gold bars attached to it.

Also taken from the Elwell Road residence were two stickpins fashioned out of rough gold nuggets from the Yukon in Alaska, the detective added, as well as other stickpins and several wedding rings.

Glaab said neighbors reported seeing a gray pickup truck in the area during the day, while a nearby railroad crew said they saw a blue pickup truck in the vicinity.

The detective said his investigation showed the robbery happened when no one was at home. Investigating the second robbery on Juniper Drive was Lt. Gary Holloway of the Van Buren Township Police Department. He said robbers most likely struck that house about 3 p.m. when it was vacant.

Missing in that robbery are some $7,000 in valuable gold and silver objects, including sterling silver, cameos, brooches, gold pins, diamonds, gold chain, earrings, rings and a watch.

Holloway, who said some of the valuable old jewelry and merchandise came from England years ago, commented: "It's a good possibility that the same people committed both robberies."

Thieves gained entrance to the Juniper Drive residence by taking out a window section, wood frame and all, without breaking the glass pane, Holloway said.

Although both Glaab and Holloway reported few leads in their respective investigations, they said they were following up on evidence and information turned up in both robberies.

Holloway asked that anyone with information on the Juniper Drive breakin should contact him at 699-2001.

Plat signing

Deputies to provide secondary patrols

The cities of Romulus and Hamtramck last week were approved for patrol of secondary roads in their areas by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

The patrol of county roads is paid for by state grants to counties and will not involve financial costs to Romulus or Hamtramck.

County approval of the secondary road patrol came following a request in December for that assistance by Romulus in the form of a resolution passed by the City Council.

On Dec. 4, 1979, Councilman Ed Rush introduced a motion calling for the county to provide the free secondary road patrol. His motion was supported by Councilman Richard Yeramian and passed unanimously by council.

Under the new patrol services, the Sheriff's Department will provide the following services on those portions of all county primary roads, all local county roads and all state trunk line highways within the corporate boundaries of Romulus:

- Patrolling and monitoring traffic violations, investigating accidents involving motor vehicles and providing emergency assistance to persons on or near a highway or road patrolled and monitored under the new plan.

Such secondary road patrols by the Sheriff's Department is provided under Michigan Public Act 416 of 1978. Romulus and Hamtramck are the first two cities in Wayne County to receive assistance under the program.

Although some county commissioners said approval of secondary road patrols would dilute police enforcement in those areas presently serviced by deputies under contractual agreements, the Board of Commissioners went ahead and okayed the measure.

The Sheriff's Department said it would use existing personnel to provide secondary road patrol. If necessary, additional personnel assigned to other nearby areas would be called in, the department explained.

LeCesne says

Inflation hits driver's ed

Romulus schools like many others throughout the state is finding it increasingly difficult to fund costly state mandated programs, the most recent being driver education, according to Terrel M. LeCesne, personnel and employee relations manager for the Romulus School District.

Aside from the ever increasing cost for instructors, the inflated cost of automobiles for on-the-road driving is literally forcing school districts to abandon other vitally needed programs in order to lease or purchase cars, he said. The other alternative is to not offer driver education and forcing taxpayers to use more expensive private agencies, he added.

"No one can deny that driver education is a worthwhile program and has contributed to improved safety on our roads and highways.

Indeed, studies have shown that our youthful drivers of today are less accident prone than some of their adult counterparts who may not have had the advantage of formal driver education. So, any thoughts of eliminating the state mandate should be dismissed. But the imposition of assigning the cost to local districts is another matter," LeCesne explained.

He stressed that when driver education originally was conceived, auto dealerships were eager to participate by practically giving cars to school districts for use in the instructional program. Then, as automotive cost increased the giveaways became leases and in most cases outright purchases, he said.

"At the same time gas cost increased, as well as insurance cost, vehicle maintenance and instructor cost," he pointed out.

"Personnel cost in Romulus is now $8 an hour or $48 per student just for on-the-road driving training, not to mention the classroom instructional time. Add to that the cost of leasing, or buying cars, gas, insurance and maintenance, and it runs into the thousands of dollars," LeCesne said. "The question then is what can be done about it? Obviously, the simple answer is that the state should totally reimburse local school districts for state mandated driver education programs. Or, at least substantially increase the present reimbursement allowance per capita."

A third alternative proposed by LeCesne is to establish a state owned and operated driver education car pool, to be drawn from by local school districts. The state would purchase the cars in lots on a sealed bid basis and then allocate them to local school districts on a no cost basis at best or reduced cost at a minimum, he said.

"Administratively, this could be done on an annual leasing arrangement and operated through intermediate school districts. Each local district would determine its needs on the basis of a predetermined formula and report same to the intermediate school district office, who in turn would report to the state. The state would then draw up the specifications and receive bids from the big four auto makers when other state vehicles are purchased," he commented.

The local districts in turn would be responsible for maintenance, insurance and servicing the cars.

He said the advantages of such a program would be many, such as the savings that would accrue because

Mobile Home tenants back bill to regulate park owners

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Nearly 100 persons turned out last week at a public hearing on a new Mobile Home Park bill and gave their overwhelming support to the proposed law.

Most of the audience cramming into Canton Township Hall were mobile home owners, including many senior citizens, and they gave State Rep. Tom Brown their unanimous endorsement of his proposed law to regulate owners of mobile home parks in Michigan.

Mobile home owners from Canton, Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Romulus, Belleville, Van Buren Township, Sumpter Township and other areas were present to give their concerns.

"I thought it was a very orderly meeting and gave the public a good opportunity to express their views," said the bill's author, Brown, who chaired the public hearing. Also on hand were State Reps. Evert Lincoln (R-Marshall), Francis Spaniola (D-Corunna), Claude Trim (D-Clarkston) and Alice Tombolian, a Democrat from Oakland County.

Brown addressed the packed room, telling the concerned mobile home tenants that it was "high time" for some restraints and restrictions on mobile park owners.

"One of the main intents of this law is to make sure people are definitely notified before their rent is raised or rules and regulations are put in effect," Brown told the audience. "Since you must locate in a park, it's high time you have a say in it. That's what this bill is all about."

"It doesn't solve all problems involving mobile home tenants, but it does solve most of the immediate ones."

Canton Supervisor Noel Culbert, Township Clerk John Flodin and trustee Carol Bodenmiller were present to represent the elected officials of the host community. Culbert and Bodenmiller expressed their support of the bill and said they were happy to see something "concrete" being done.

"I'd like to thank the people and you for your support (in drafting this bill)," Culbert told Brown. "Although I support the bill, I'd like to see some amendments."

He pointed out there were different prices for similar services and lots in certain parks.

"The bill permits the park owner to tell a tenant he must leave after one year. There should be at least a 90-day notice by either party."

Culbert also suggested some other changes he would like to see made.

The bill, if it becomes law, will create a 9-member Mobile Home Council which is made up of local people, including the police chief, fire chief, and other community officials and residents to see mobile park regulations are carried out.

C.J. Marshall, president of Canton's Holiday Estates Mobile Homeowners Association, represents some 400 tenants and claimed the state Mobile Home Commission was protecting park owners.

"Those sitting on this commission are protecting the park owners. I intend to pursue it (resolving of the many problems) in the courts, if necessary," he said.

He said that Sheldon Furturick, owner of Holiday Estates mobile home park, and four other mobile home parks in Western Wayne County had not treated the tenants fairly.

"This man deserves to be behind bars as far as I am concerned," Marshall said, referring to Furturick.

The only one to speak out against the proposed new law was a park owner.

"It's apparent that Mr. Brown and others believe there is a need for rent control," said Dennis Dukes, owner of Rawsonville Woods Mobile Home Park in Sumpter Township and a strong opponent of the proposed law to regulate park owners. "I haven't found that need!"

Dukes said he checked some 21 counties in Michigan that have more than 100 mobile home sites.

"I did not find even one park which has had rent increases more than the rate of inflation. I believe Canton has had it's problems. I believe that trouble is mainly with one man, and I think there are laws on the books to deal with him."

Dukes said he believed firmly in the free enterprise way of life and told the panel and audience: "Let's not make mobile home parks the 'whipping boy' in our frustration over high prices."

He concluded by saying that government doesn't tell grocery stores, shopping malls and other retail and commercial outlets how much money to charge and he urged that it not be done to mobile park owners.

The birth of a bill

The American process of enacting legislation is sometimes a long and tedious one and public hearings for the public is a vital part of that tradition. Input by citizens help mold the proposed bill into its final shape before it is passed by the State House of Representatives and State Senate. At last week's public hearing on a proposed bill to regulate mobile home parks, nearly 100 residents turned out to voice their approval. HAROLD REDISKE JR.

Should I consider anything less than a full-service funeral?
Generally, the full-service funeral best meets the needs of the bereaved, as well as providing for the deceased. It is a declaration of death, as well as a testimonial to a life. The full-service funeral is also a ritual of deeply profound psychological significance in our civilized society. It was Gladstone, the famous English statesman, who wisely said: "Show me the manner in which a nation or community cares for its dead and I will measure with mathematical exactness the tender sympathies of its people, their respect for the law of the land, and their loyalty to high ideals."
We are living in an age of great change and progress. While many customs are influenced by the times, the full-service funeral has not been much altered. Progress has refined techniques and procedures, but the high ideals to which Gladstone refers have not been minimized or compromised. Man still buries his dead with ceremony and dignity.
Your choice of a full-service funeral demonstrates the tender sympathy and respect for the high ideals of which Gladstone would greatly approve.

Citizens committee to pick Medal of Merit winners

A Citizens Committee has been appointed to search the 15th Congressional District for the young people who will be awarded the distinction of being Medal of Merit and Outstanding Youth winners in the annual program sponsored by Congressman William D. Ford.

The district includes Western Wayne County and downriver communities. Ford gives out the awards every year to young residents who have distinguished themselves in community service, citizenship and civic responsibility.

To awards will be available in each of the 21 communities in the 15th Congressional District, Ford noted. One will be for youngsters aged 14 through 18 or still seniors in high school. The other award will go to high school graduates, or 18 to 22 years of age.

The medals will be personally presented by Ford at a special ceremony in May. Deadline for nomination is March 15.

Nomination blanks are available in city or township clerks' offices in the 15th District, as well as from members of the Citizens Committee and from the congressman's district office in the Wayne Post Office Building. If you or your organization wants to nominate an individual, send the completed application to Ford's District Office.

It will be up to the members of the Citizens Committee to choose the persons to be honored.

Heading the Citizens Committee this year are Doug Ritter of Canton and Stella Adams of Belleville.

Other members from the Western Wayne County area are Bernadette Plunkett from Dearborn Heights, Elaine Mueller from Garden City, Helen Kowalski from Huron Township, Ernest Lyons from Inkster, Maria Lewinski from Livonia, William Hardy from Romulus, Girtha Folks from Sumpter Township, Imogene Pence from Van Buren Township, Robert Beeny from Wayne and Anita Cobb from Westland. Other cities that will be represented are Ash Township and Carleton, Brownstown Township, Flat Rock, Gibraltar and Rockwood, Southgate, Taylor and Woodhaven.

The committee will use the same ground rules and judging criteria used when the award program was first established in the Bicentennial year, Ford said.

"The accomplishment on which the selection will be based must be outstanding and meaningful," Ford said. "They should not be based primarily on scholarship, athletic ability or organizational membership, nor should they be something for which the nominee has received financial payment.

"While not all people are leaders, many make significant contributions in other ways," he added. "Consideration will also be given to nominees who have put time and effort toward meaningful projects, such as volunteer work, heroic acts and humanitarian efforts."

Director suspended

FBI seizes records in CUFA investigation

By CARRIE YOUNG
Special to the Eagle

A team of FBI agents, armed with a federal subpoena, have seized all fiscal records at Taylor's Communities United For Action (CUFA) Inc. offices.

Immediately after that action Jan. 9, CUFA's executive director, Jean Conyers, and three other high-ranking officers employed by the anti-poverty agency were suspended, based on allegations of "conspiring to fraud the agency and mismanagement of federal and state funds," according to an official statement by the chairman of the CUFA Board of Directors, William McGill.

CUFA, a non-profit government organization, which is allocated nearly $1 million yearly in funding to service the poor in out-Wayne County's 42 communities, had been under a 3-month investigation by Associated Newspapers Inc. that uncovered widespread fiscal and program mismanagement within that agency.

The FBI, according to Special Agent John Anthony, conducted an investigation into the alleged fraudulent use of federal funds in connection with CUFA, prompted to do so, in part, by ANP's investigation and because of an allegation of payroll padding by an employee.

ANP learned from sources close to the investigation, that Conyers is suspected of padding the payrolls, along with fiscal officer Henrietta Luckie, head bookkeeper Isaac Lewis and program planner Sheila Fredericks, all suspended last week pending the results of the investigation.

Mrs. Conyers was to have received a yearly salary of $24,000, although she allegedly had drawn $36,000 since assuming her responsibilities with that agency in April 1978.

In what FBI agents contend to be "a strong case, well documented," those allegedly conspiring to defraud the agency could face indictments by a federal grand jury as early as the end of this month, or in early February, FBI agents said.

If found guilty, the maximum sentence for the crime is a 5-year imprisonment, a $10,000 fine, or both.

In the interim, the Michigan Department of Labor's Bureau of Community Services (BCS), CUFA's monitoring agency, was called in to take over the day-to-day operations.

"If we had concrete evidence that things like this were going on, we would have taken vigorous action before this and without the FBI's involvement," said McGill, who has been involved in CUFA since its inception in 1972.

McGill, however, admitted CUFA has been plagued with its share of troubles both financially and programatically from the start. But, he insisted, "it was just little procedural things, little mistakes in the audits."

He said he was "shocked" to learn

Inflation:

of the state's purchasing power; the replacement of cars could be uniform; students equal opportunity to learn to drive and not be dependent on the local district's ability to afford the program; and finally local district funds now assigned to this program could be funneled to other needed instructional programs.

"Obviously, there are many other variations as to how such a program could be operated. That's not important at this juncture. What is, is that the state begins to assume more responsibility for its mandated programs, utilize the economic impact of its buying power and no longer expect the local district to shoulder the responsibility," he emphasized.

of his employees' activities, because "they were friends of mine."

While saying he encouraged critics of the organization to come forward with information to further scrutinize the agency, employees interviewed by ANP contend that they were ordered not to talk to the press, or they would face termination of employment.

A former payroll clerk Di Anne Nguyen, discharged by Conyers after two years at the agency, though, agreed to an interview with ANP.

Mrs. Nguyen said she had been ordered by Mrs. Luckie to pay a group of newly hired employees without issuing W-4 forms to those employees, without their respective time sheets, with no identification showing that the employees existed, and without knowing the salaries of the employees.

"I said to her I would not play that game. It was wrong, and I would not be a part of it," Ms. Nguyen said. "And so at 5 p.m. that day, I was dismissed and handed my severance pay."

That incident occurred, Ms. Nguyen said, in April, shortly after Mrs. Conyers was hired. And since that time Ms. Nguyen filed a grievance against Mrs. Luckie. Though, as of today, the matter has not to be reconciled, with the agency reporting to have "lost or misplaced" Ms. Nguyen's personnel records.

Former employees in the fiscal offices insist, however, that questionable activities of executive officers were suspected prior to Conyer's administrative changeover, and have, in fact tainted the agency since its inception.

"But everytime we tried to clean up the books and make things register correctly, we were frowned on by everyone at CUFA," one employee said.

According to CUFA's auditor Henry Martin, the agency's books were an "auditors nightmare, barely auditable."

ANP learned in its investigation that CUFA co-mingled state and federal dollars, and operated programs often without budgets. Every year, according to audits obtained by ANP, hundreds of thousands of dollars have been either "lost" due to accounting procedures, or expenditures have been "questioned."

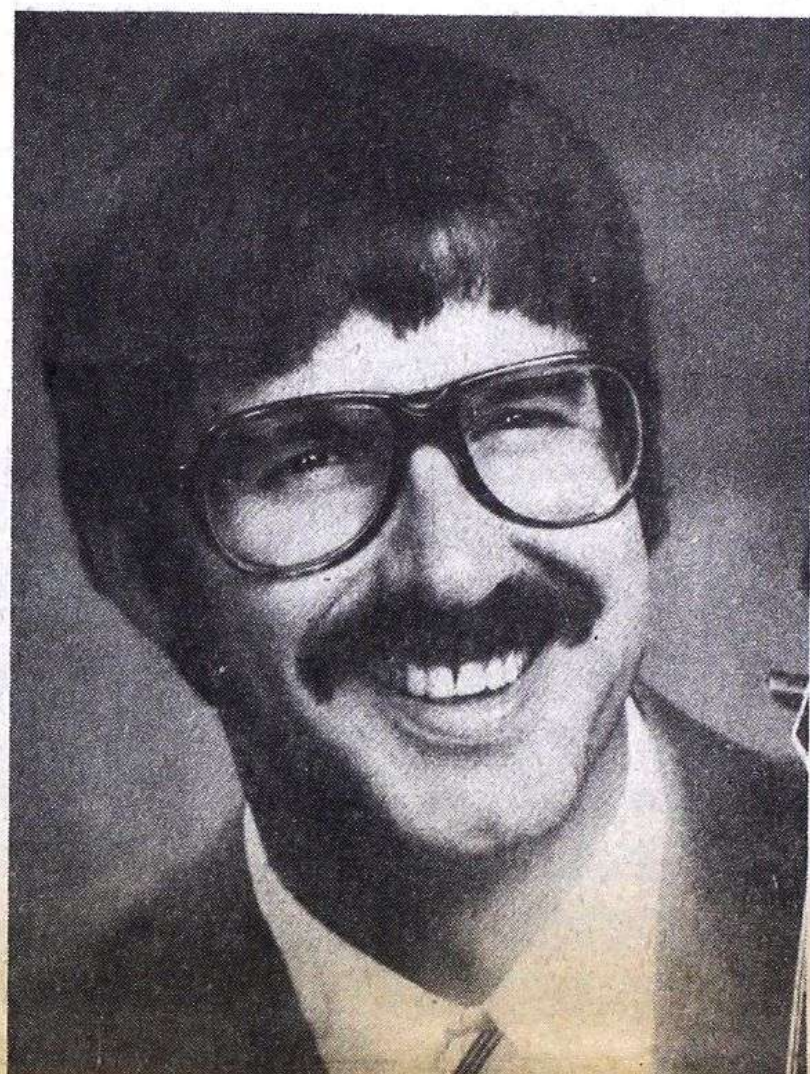

Not until June 1979 was CUFA given a comprehensive monitoring by BCS. And officials interviewed at CUFA's parent funding agency, Community Service Administration (CSA), admitted to taking a "hands off" approach to regulating CUFA, insisting that with only eight field representatives for two states that ailing agencies sometimes are ignored. There are 30 community action agencies in Michigan, each aimed to assist the poor and disadvantaged through energy assistance programs, transportation services and homecare services to the aged, among others.

Although McGill said he still has hopes of CUFA becoming a viable agency and welcomes public review of CUFA as being conducive to its overhaul, it was McGill who was steadfast in his refusal to release any and all pertinent information about CUFA at ANP's request last year.

At that time McGill argued that he didn't see a need for a re-assessment of CUFA's operation "just because somebody didn't get a ride to the corner or because of sloppy bookkeeping."

"Besides," McGill had said, "the information you want is not a legitimate concern to most people. Most people could give a damn about how bad CUFA's audits are. And why should they."

"...because like all good things," said McGill, "CUFA will continue on."

Service conducted for Harold Hess

Memorial services were held Saturday at Grace Baptist Church in Belleville for Harold Hess, 52, a well-known lawyer who died Jan. 15 of injuries sustained New Year's Eve in a fireworks accident.

Officiating at services was The Rev. Jay Frazier, pastor of Grace Baptist Church. Remains were cremated, and friends were asked to send memorials to the Belleville Lions Club.

The survivors are his wife,

Virginia; two sons, Graham and Glenn; one daughter, Holly; and two sisters, Mrs. Shirley Castiglione of Florida and Mrs. Marie Malcolm, Bristol, Va.

Mr. Hess was born May 3, 1927, in Bristol, Va. and came to the Detroit area nearly 30 years ago. During World War II, he served with the U.S. Navy. Following his discharge, he attended and graduated from the University of Tennessee.

After coming to Michigan, he resided and worked as a certified public accountant in the Garden City community. Later, he attended Detroit area institutions of higher education and earned his law degree.

Mr. Hess served as attorney for Sumpter Township for five years and had a private legal practice in Sumpter and Van Buren townships and Belleville area.

He was well known for his humanitarian works, the most recent being a Thanksgiving dinner for needy area residents, which he organized on behalf of the Belleville Lions Club.

Mr. Hess was very active in the Lions Club and his energy and enthusiasm in getting things done for his fellow men were well known to his fellow club members. He helped spearhead Lions Club efforts to establish a trust fund recently for a crippled accident victim living in Belleville.

Tragedy struck the lawyer when he reportedly checked a large skyrocket which had failed to ignite. He had set off a skyrocket earlier for his three children and their friends at a neighbor's home.

Police said the second skyrocket, which was placed in a mortar-like tube, apparently went off unexpectedly, striking Hess in the upper left side of his head. He was in a deep coma for more than two weeks prior to his death.

Following memorial services Saturday, a memorial dinner in his honor was held at the VFW Hall in Romulus, with some 200 friends and members of his family attending.

Funeral held Monday for Johnnie Johnson

Services were held Monday at Baum Funeral Home in Romulus for Johnnie Johnson, a well known Romulus resident and police, fire and safety commissioner for the city.

Johnson died late last Thursday at Wayne County General Hospital, where he had been a patient for several days. He was 53.

The service was conducted by The Rev. Floyd Elison, pastor of Community Methodist Church. Burial was at Michigan Memorial Park in Flat Rock.

Surviving are his wife, Gail, four sons, Ronald of Belleville, Roger of Romulus, Dana of California and Robert of Romulus; four brothers, Robert of Southgate; William of Tennessee, Carmen of Florida and Homer of Tennessee, a sister, Mrs. Vaughn (Laura) Rollins of Tennessee, and two grandchildren.

Mr. Johnson was born Jan. 21, 1926, in Hartford, Tenn. He came to the Romulus area more than 20 years ago. He had been retired from Great Lakes Steel for several years following two kidney transplant operations and open heart surgery.

Mr. Johnson was police, fire and safety commissioner for the City of Romulus for the last five years. He also was active in Boy Scout work. More than 20 years ago, he helped organize Cub and Boy Scout troops in the area and was actively involved in local PTA activities.

He was a member of the F&AM, Golden Arc Lodge, 595, Lincoln Park Order of the Eastern Star 479, Taylor Moose Lodge, Romulus Horsemen's Association, Romulus PTA and the Michigan Kidney Foundation.

Hobby grew into business and her Pine Tree Shoppe

"A hobby that grew into a business" is how Sharon Henry characterized her first venture into business as owner and operator of the Pine Tree Shoppe in Romulus.

Located at 34865 Goddard Road, just east of The Romulus City Hall, her shop specializes in the sale of arts and crafts and related supplies, plastercraft, dolls, quilting supplies, macrame, beads, and other similar merchandise.

Mrs. Henry named her shop after the pine tree in front of the establishment, which she opened on Oct. 16, 1979.

Periodically, she provides free classes in plastercraft, quilting and crocheting. She is open for business from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Included in her business operation is the accepting of merchandise on consignment from individuals who make specialized items.

Her husband, Steve, occasionally helps her in the running of the shop. The couple has a daughter, 10, who attends the classes in the Romulus public schools.

The center is also in need of typists and individuals who are interested in telephoning, perspective employers and clients.

The YWCA also has a program to aid in the rehabilitation of female inmates at the Wayne County Detention Annex. Many volunteers are needed. Women with skills in empathy training, group leadership or talents in crafts, sewing, knitting and crocheting can find satisfaction with volunteer work in this program.

Boating class for youths set by DNR

Untrained youngsters 12 through 15 years old can take the first step toward "making the scene" on Michigan waterways by signing up now for a free pleasure boating course, to be held during the winter in Wayne County.

Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas pointed out that youths in this age group must successfully complete this course for beginning boaters before they can operate motorboats of 6 horsepower or more without adult supervision.

He added that while the accent is on training youngsters, local boaters of all ages are welcome to attend the pleasure boating course which has been worked up by the Department of Natural Resources' Marine Safety Division.

Those interested in making their boating safer and more fun filled next season may enroll at their local school. They also may join the course roster by calling the Wayne County Marine Division at 721-2222, ext. 264.

Persons on deck for the entire training program will gain valuable know-how on safety afloat, boat handling, Michigan's watercraft regulations and first-aid. They also will pick up important pointers on selecting safe combinations of boats and motors.

Sheriff Lucas emphasizes that there is no charge for the course. Everyone who passes will receive a pocket-size certificate which each "graduate" must carry while operating his or her boat.

Scheduled boating safety classes for 1980 are:

—At 4 p.m. Feb. 6 at Plymouth-Canton High School, 8415 Canton Center Road, Canton Township;

—At 7 p.m. Feb. 12 at Lowell Junior High School, 8400 Hix Road, Livonia;

—At 7 p.m. Feb. 18 at Woodhaven High School, 24787 Van Born Road, Flat Rock;

Iran's other controversial faith

By George Plagenz
United Feature Syndicate

Things that matter

Ayatollah Khomeini is not the first controversial religious leader to come out of Iran.

In the 19th century a man named Baha'u'llah (pronounced ba-HA-ol-LAH) stepped forward in Persia (Iran today) and proclaimed he was Christ returned. He founded the Baha'i faith which today has three million adherents throughout the world — and 100,000 in the United States.

The growth of the movement in this country has not been as rapid as elsewhere because the United States is basically a Christian nation and Christians are inclined to look on Baha'u'llah's claim as blasphemous.

Baha'is, on the other hand, consider their movement to be a fulfillment of Biblical prophecies concerning the Second Coming of Christ.

Skeptics are referred by the Baha'is to an independent study done by a former United Press reporter who came on the story completely by chance.

William Sears was with the UP bureau in Madison, Wis. As he worked nights, he often had time to read on the job. One night he came upon a book about the people who had eagerly awaited the return of Christ in the 19th century.

He was particularly interested in the story of William Miller, a Bible student who calculated, after studying the prophecies of Daniel in the Old Testament, that Christ would return in 1844.

Miller narrowed it down further — to Oct. 22, 1844. On that day Miller's followers, who numbered about 100,000, climbed the hills and the housetops around Hampton, N.Y., where Miller lived and waited for Christ's return — which never materialized.

Miller and his disappointed disciples concluded sadly that they must have made some mistake in their arithmetic. Sears wasn't so sure.

Something of a Bible student himself, Sears figured that Daniel and Miller were right about 1844 and that Christ had indeed returned then but that the event had taken place somewhere else and had gone unnoticed.

Sears began looking at all available historical records for the year 1844. Were there any stories or legends of a man claiming to be the Messiah which surfaced that year?

On one of his several trips to the Middle East, he heard the strange tale of a young man who had been sentenced to death for instigating a reform movement in Persia.

The story had it that the man was hanging, suspended by ropes, from a crossbar in the public square of Tabriz while a firing squad took aim at him.

But when the smoke of 200 rifles had cleared, the man stood on the ground unhurt. The guns of his would-be executioners had severed the ropes but he himself had miraculously escaped the volleys. He ran off free.

The young man was known as the Bab (pronounced Bob) which means "gate."

He had been traveling through Persia proclaiming he was the gate, or the door, through which would come the One promised in the holy books. His first announcement that the Second Coming was imminent was made, Sears learned, on May 23, 1844!

The Bab died in 1850, but his followers continued to await the Promised One. In 1863, one of their own number proclaimed he was the one the Bab had foretold. His name was Baha'u'llah.

What clinched it for Sears was that Baha'u'llah in Arabic means "the glory of God." Sears had noted in his Bible studies that the Messiah was referred to countless times as "the glory of God" or "the glory of the Lord."

For instance, Isaiah had said in one of his best-known Messianic prophecies, "Arise, shine, for thy light is come and the glory of the Lord (Baha'u'llah in Arabic) is risen upon thee."

Sears, who published his research in 1961, became a baha'i himself.

The Baha'i faith, unlike most Eastern religions, is more practical than mystical. The essential message is the oneness of mankind.

December jobless rate up

Michigan's unemployment rate rose to 8.5 percent in December from 7.9 percent in November, with the number of unemployed increasing by 24,000 to 369,000, according to estimates released by Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC) Director S. Martin Taylor.

Taylor said total employment fell from 4,024,000 in November to 3,970,000 in December, resulting from substantial indefinite and temporary layoffs in the auto industry. The weakened job market created a 30,000 decline in the number of job seekers, as the labor force fell to 4,339,000 in December.

A year ago December the Michigan jobless rate was 6.7 percent with 289,000 unemployed and 3,996,000 employed.

Taylor said the rise in the unemployment rate is consistent with the increase in the unemployment insurance claimsload experienced in MESC branch offices. From December 1978 to December 1979 the number of claimants served by the MESC offices jumped 123 percent. The initial claims of 89,000 for the week of Dec. 22 was the highest ever registered in a single week in Michigan. Currently, unemployment benefits payments by MESC are averaging $4.4 million a day.

Approximately 600 temporary employees have been hired and 10 new payment offices opened to handle the workload. Because joblessness is expected to continue upward, the MESC will open six more offices, all in the Detroit area, by the end of January.

Justice

Like the proverbial bad penny which keeps returning, Van Buren's bout with both the courts and a local developer over the sewer hook ups for a proposed mobile home park, is again in the news.

But with each new episode in the now old, old story, Van Buren only manages to sink a little further into the mud of controversy while trying its best to protect the community.

The board's refusal to grant sewer tap-in permits to the developer last year, prompted Circuit Court Judge Charles Kaufman to order the Van Buren board to jail until they complied with the court's order.

Finally released when public attention mounted and an agreement to abide by the ultimate decision by the courts was reached, Van Buren's officials started the long and expensive trip through the courts.

But last week, another obstacle was thrust into the path of the Van Buren officials who decided their community is more important than legal technicality.

It seems that Van Buren is one of 13 communities that entered into a joint agreement in 1962 to send all of their sewage through the downriver Wyandotte disposal plant built and paid for by the 13 participating communities.

That agreement now stands as an obstacle to compliance with court orders, because in order to comply with that pact, Van Buren could not approve the permits for the mobile home park developer wanting to tap into the nearby Ypsilanti sewer system.

We believe this latest development only further justifies the board's original position in refusing to grant the tap-in permits.

We further believe that Van Buren's elected officials have demonstrated a dedication to their responsibilities that should be used as a model by other communities.

In this age of dealing away principle for political expediency, Van Buren's officials and Supervisor Patricia Cullin have done their jobs very well.

It is indeed unfortunate that Judge Kaufman could not have taken his responsibilities as seriously.

In the face of the continued erosion of individual rights, and the growing encroachment of the judicial into the affairs of the legislative branches of government, Van Buren's tough stand to protect its citizens from special interest remains an example of public service beyond self interest.

Once again we applaud Van Buren's elected officials for their collective courage to stand and face the onslaught of a judicial system dedicated not to the community as a whole, but to only legal technicality.

Win or lose, Van Buren's officials have done their jobs very well.

Inflation and gas

By ROBERT LAW
State Representative
36th District

INDEXING BILL SHOULD BE PASSED IN 1980

Inflation, there can be no question, is one of the most serious problems we face. By the end of 1979, inflation had reached a yearly average of about 13 percent, increasing its stranglehold on the nation, eroding people's purchasing power and perpetrating a treadmill existence where taxpayers continually lose ground.

In the beginning of 1979, colleague Paul Hillegonds introduced a bill to tie the state personal exemption to the increases and declines in the Detroit Consumer Price Index. The Legislature never took up that bill, and its failure to do so has cost the average Michigan family some $32.

A family of four will pay $31.75 more in income tax for 1979 than they did in 1978 because the Legislature refused to index the personal exemption. That refusal not only tolerates, it encourages a regressive system that taxes larger families more than the single person or small families.

The 1979 inflation rate reduced the $1500 personal exemption, which became effective in 1974, to $935 in real money today. If the Legislature had been farsighted enough to index the exemption back in 1973, taxpayers would receive a $2486 personal exemption on their income tax forms. Instead, the reverse has happened and the average price of goods has spiraled as inflation soars.

The average wage is also increasing, though not at 13 percent a year. What happens because of this pattern can be devastating to low-income families. In Michigan, a family of four who earned less than $6000 in 1978 paid no state income tax. But if in 1979, because average wages are increasing, that same family earned more than $6,000, they would have to pay income tax, even though the state said they were too poor to pay it before and even though their standard of living was not changed or perhaps has even been reduced.

Obviously, we have stalled long enough. The Legislature should face up to its responsibility and no longer permit the inflationary trends of the federal government to dictate state taxation policy. If we do not index the personal exemption, we are simply raising taxes without a vote of the people. That's dishonest and we should put an end to it in 1980.

MORE TIME GIVEN FOR GAS PUMP ADJUSTMENTS

Governor Milliken has given gas station owners who have not yet converted their pumps to handle over $1 a gallon prices another 180 days to do so.

As you may recall, when gasoline prices began crawling near the $1 a gallon mark in June, the state Department of Agriculture—which enforces the state's weight and measurements law—initiated a move for emergency rules to permit gas stations to price by the half-gallon or convert their pumps to "liter" measurements.

However, recent Agriculture Department statistics indicate that only about 40 percent of the state's gas pumps have been converted to accommodate the over $1 a gallon prices.

The Governor said he approved the extension to allow the majority of stations in Michigan more time to convert to one of the new systems.

Older pumps are still permitted to compute at the half gallon price if the required notice is placed on the pump.

I trust you've all purchased gas at one of the converted pumps over the past several months, but I'll review how the system works:

—The unit price listed on the pump meter is tagged "cents per half-gallon."

—The pump displays "price per gallon" nearby.

—The pump shows actual total gallons delivered to the customer.

—Each pump affected by the regulation carries the following notice to the customer: "This dispenser is temporarily computing total sale by one-half gallon price. The price represented on the dispenser face is one-half the total price of the sale."

Service station operators currently half-pricing, but not adhering to rules of these emergency regulations, run the risk of having their equipment taken out of service. Advertising half gallon prices at the roadside is also prohibited under the rules.

According to reports that I have received, perhaps the best total statewide solution would be to convert all pumps to the metric system.

Profile of a tradition

By DENNIS FASSETT
ANP Managing Editor

Hold on to your Strohs, fasten your seat belts, and prepare to burn your latest tax bill. Robert E. Tisch is back in the news.

Tisch, scourge of Lansing and all governmental points east, west, north, and south and author of the 1978 tax reform ballot proposal bearing his name, held a press conference this morning at the State Capitol, and again his message was Tax Reform.

But while Tisch talking about taxes is not unusual, Tisch the man is indeed unusual; and over dinner prepared by his wife Bethol, we discussed how an ordinary man living in Laingsburg, Michigan, could have evolved into a man disliked by politicians, hated by school boards, and loved by millions of Michigan's ordinary citizens.

Bob Tisch was born in Jackson, Michigan, 59 years ago, but World War II took him away from that community and he never returned.

Following four years with the Army, where he became a defensive chemical warfare expert, Tisch was discharged and moved to Lansing to attend Michigan State.

But, during and following his years at MSU, Tisch worked at what was to become his first business—outdoor advertising and graphic arts.

War again was to disrupt Tisch's life, and he was recalled into the Army during the Korean conflict. That recall resulted in the loss of his business.

After two years' service, Tisch again returned to the Lansing area but was now unemployed. Not the type to give up, Tisch and his wife began the task of locating a building for the beginning of a new business.

Finding the location they wanted in Laingsburg, about 50 miles west of Lansing, the Tisches started the operation that would supply wooden furniture and school room fixtures to the nation's classrooms.

During the ensuing years, Bob Tisch was to become active in community affairs, serving as City Assessor, City Judge, City Election Board Commissioner, and school board member.

But perhaps Tisch's stint on the school board best illustrates the type of man he is.

Dissatisfied with the local school's operation and poor facilities, Tisch took on local officials who had been ignoring deteriorating conditions and sought to have improvements made. But Laingsburg was a small town, unused to newcomers questioning procedures, and Tisch's fight to improve his local school resulted in his recall from the board.

But Tisch was then, as now, undeterred by minor setbacks; and his fight to improve the schools ultimately resulted in a brand-new school for the community.

In 1969, Tisch sold his business and went into teaching while investing his money in the building of apartment units in Laingsburg.

In 1976, a friend suggested that Tisch run for the office of Shiawassee County Drain Commissioner. Tisch agreed and won the job that has since set him at odds with the established "in" group in county government.

An outspoken critic of past procedure, Tisch often refused to pay questionable bills his predecessors had authorized because of apparent improper action. And many in government would be happy to see Tisch leave his $15,400-a-year job.

In 1978, Bob Tisch followed closely the activities of California's Howard Jarvis and felt that Michigan needed the same kind of tax reform legislation.

So rather than wait for someone else to lead the way, Tisch took up the fight. Although he lost his '78 fight to bring tax reform to Michigan, he is not ready to quit the struggle.

Tisch announced this week that he will again take up the cause.

With dinner behind us and a crackling fire burning warmly in the fireplace, Tisch spoke softly of his dream of bringing government back to the people, of ending the gulf that has developed between the elected and the electors.

With his voice rising, he spoke of the tax abuse heaped on Michigan citizens and of unresponsive public officials.

I was impressed. Sitting in the apartment he had fashioned with his own hands, before a fireplace he had constructed in the evenings after work, I saw a man more concerned with his neighbors than with himself; a man driven by a cause he knows in his heart is right.

But more importantly, to me, Tisch represents the very best our system is capable of producing.

Opinionated, dedicated to principle, with faith in himself to effect change, Robert Tisch is the tradition on which this country was built.

Robert Tisch is a winner, and the rest of us are also winners because he is here.

Tyler staff appreciated

Editor:

I'm writing this in appreciation for some very special people I have come to know in the past few years. These people are the teachers and staff of Tyler Elementary School. The School's principal is Mr. Priest, whom I believe is one of the most conscientious and dedicated principals that I've known. Mrs. Carl, who is the secretary, is the most hard working and pleasant lady I know.

The teachers at Tyler are very unique, not only in teaching but in the interest of their students. Also, their participation in school activities, plus various fund-raising events at school.

Tyler also has a program for pre-school children in which my youngest is now attending. The teachers are Mrs. Ina Keyes, Miss Sandy Rahilly and a speech lady which I only know as Lynn. These three ladies give their best for these children and I truly believe the children are gaining a lot from this program.

The program tests area preschoolers with qualified people to determine if a child might have a problem that may hinder him or her from progressing at a normal rate when starting kindergarten. Please understand, this is my opinion and "does not" label these children in any way.

The program does require parent participation once a week. The kids attend twice a week in a half-day session. This is the time these teachers give their all. It seems like magic the way we see our children grow and learn day by day, which can only be accredited to Ina, Sandy and Lynn. The program also has high school helpers to help in class and observe the children as a credit or 1/2 for high school.

The parent group meets once a week. The lady we meet with is Mrs. Carol Potter. She is a social worker who works in various schools in our community. We also have Mrs. Keyes and Miss Rahilly trade off with Mrs. Potter so they can get to know the parents, and Mrs. Potter the children.

In these meetings we discuss the progress of our children and any problem they may have in school or at home. In these discussions we find many of our problems are similar, which gives us a chance to talk and make suggestions that might help solve the problem. We have film strips on child development roles children have in a family and many others. Each week we receive an activity sheet we can use as a different outing or sharing time in which we do various things with our children.

One day we could take the child out on a walk and collect leaves of different colors, pointing out the difference of the leaves in shape and color. Another day taking a paper drawing circles, squares or whatever, and coloring it a certain color. We also have our viewing time, where we go into a room with a one-way mirror, and we can observe our kids in various activities.

Last, but not least, in our sessions we are able to discuss anything from A to Z. This way I feel that I've learned and also have contributed in the session. This is all due to Carol Potter. Carol, to me, is the most caring, giving and deserving lady I know. She's always there to listen, lend a helping hand if he can in any problem, (she has helped and listened to me so I know), contributing her time and putting 100 percent of herself into her work, as do the others.

This is my way of letting all of the teachers and staff know how very much I appreciate and thank them for giving the "best" in education and interest in the children of this community. As I'm sure the rest of the parents of Tyler School children feel.

Turnout amazing

Editor:

I had the pleasure of being invited to participate in a casual fun night of basketball with the Belleville Football Coaching Staff and a group of students at the High School gym, on January 7, 1980.

Not knowing what kind of a turnout to expect, I was totally amazed to see approximately seventy (70) students had come out for the evening. Being a student myself it gave me great pleasure to see this response and to see the interest our teacher-counselors have in the students and the programs they believe in.

I'm sure with this kind of interest in the students, the excellent programs of our principal, Jim Richendollar, and the help of all parents we will have one of the best school systems around.

I would like to thank the coaching staff for the wonderful night and to encourage the continuation of this type of program.

For advice

Ask

Carol Premo

By CAROL PREMIO, C.S.W.

Dear Carol,

My stepfather is 82 years old. He has lung cancer — he only knows he is ill. His doctor and the social workers say I should not tell him. His daughters don't want to deal with it. I feel very close to him — he took good care of mother. I support him in an apartment. He is not a take charge sort of person, more a follower. What should I do?

Stepson

Dear Stepson,

In view of the fact that you do not have an overridingly strong feeling one way or the other to tell your stepfather he has cancer or not to tell him you would probably be well advised to leave that decision to the doctor or social workers. They are frequently more familiar with this situation and perhaps are getting feelings from your stepfather that he does not want to know.

As you indicated that he is not a "take charge" person, it does appear that the doctor and social workers have something on which to base their opinions since they are so vocal in making their opinions known. This is a hard decision to make, as there are no steadfast rules to follow.

Moreover, you can never test out whether your decision was the best one because once the decision is made, you can never determine how the other choice would have gone. All you can do is to make the decision you feel best and abide by it and let any other feelings of regret and recrimination go.

Dear Carol,

A couple I know just had a baby. They had been trying to have a child for ten years. They were so excited about the baby that they decided to broadcast their happiness — they named him "Treasure."

I know they mean to show how they feel but I am concerned about how the child will feel with a name as unusual as this. What do you think?

Friend of the Family

Dear Friend of the Family,

Although the parents of this child are probably not interested in what I think, you have asked so I will tell you. I think that very unusual or "cutesy" names are a burden and unfair, an unearned burden at that on the child. And since the child has to keep the name at least for a few years before he can legally have it changed, it seems that the parents should be more responsive to the social needs of the child and try to give them every advantage not disadvantage.

Reflections

Forgiveness is divine

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

leaning over the front seat hollered in my dad's ear.

It came as a complete surprise to him and it is no credit to him that that Model T stayed in the road, for he turned completely around, lifting his hands off the steering wheel, and grabbed me, pulling me over the back and onto the seat.

It was then that he heard my sister grasping. He pulled the car over the side of the road and rescued her, turning her upside down and beating on her back. At last she was breathing normally, although doing a lot of crying. I was pretty sure I was going to do a lot of crying too, as I watched my dad's face. His mouth closed tight and his eyes glared.

"What are you doing in that back seat?" he yelled. We were too frightened to answer and we sat there, two miserable, dusty, grimey little girls, who knew that he wouldn't think twice before throwing us out of the Model T to fare the best we could.

His features softened as he watched us, and then he threw himself back against the seat and laughed. His laughter was loud and booming and almost as terrifying as his anger had been a few minutes before.

"All right," he finally said, "as long as you have come this far you might as well go the rest of the way." As he drove back onto the road I looked at him and then at my little sister, but I couldn't find it anywhere inside of me to say anything lest he change his mind. My sister didn't say anything either. The balance of the ride into town was strangely silent and I began to get shivers all through me because I remembered that my father thought disobedience was about the worst sin there was, and one never could tell what a father might feel he had to do when his children disobeyed.

I let my imagination roam over the possibilities and I missed out on all the fun of feeling the wind blow my hair and tickle my cheeks. I missed out on the fun of watching the telegraph poles whizz by, and watching the tires send tumbleweeds rolling across the fields. It was a miserable ride.

When we finally pulled up beside the granary my father took the gunny sacks and had them filled and then heaved them into the back seat.

He still hadn't said a word.

Our next stop was the grocery store and my sister and I waited miserably while he did his shopping. After the groceries had been stashed into the back seat along with the bags of grain, he cranked the car and threw himself over the side into the driver's seat.

It was then that he looked directly at us. "Are you hot and sweaty?"

We nodded and I felt the tears begin to roll down my cheeks.

"Think some ice cream would fix that up?"

My little sister opened her big brown eyes and looked hard and long at him and then she lowered them.

"If you don't think we're too wicked," she whispered.

At the drugstore he lifted her to his shoulders and ordered tall, tall ice cream sodas.

The tumbleweeds rolled crazily across the fields on our way home, and the telegraph poles whizzed by in rapid motion and I was probably the happiest little kid in the world, for I had discovered it is great to be forgiven.

On the Brighter Side

'Angels of mercy'

By JIM BRADLEY

It was 4 a.m. on a Sunday morning.

My car headlights pierced the eerie morning darkness as we sped over nearly deserted streets to the emergency room at Garden City Hospital.

My wife, Pansy, seated on the passenger's side, glanced anxiously at our teenage son Jeff, who lay huddled motionless on the back seat.

Jeff had eaten something that upset his stomach and caused him to vomit periodically through Saturday evening and past the midnight hour. We felt it was a "touch of the flu" that had caused others to feel nauseated and throw up.

However, when Jeff's illness persisted and even grew worse, my wife picked up the kitchen phone. The clock on the wall signalled 4 a.m. Dialing quickly, she reached Jeff's doctor, Dr. Warren L. Schildberg, at home and the veteran physician answered within moments.

He directed us to take Jeff, who has been a diabetic the past five of his 18 years, to the emergency room of Garden City Hospital. "They will call me if they need me," he explained.

The lighted "Emergency" sign caught our attention as we swung into the hospital parking lot and sped up to the entrance. We helped our wobbly son through the double doors and he seated in the emergency waiting room.

Jeff sat hunched over, elbows on knees and head in hands, as Pansy gave vital information to the woman at the desk. The lady asked her if we had a Blue Cross card, which seems to be the passport to treatment now days. I returned to Jeff and slid into a molded plastic chair beside him.

Outside, the darkness of night still engulfed the city. Inside, the emergency room was vacant at 4:15 a.m. except for four men — two teenagers, waiting for their injured friend, and two fathers.

It wasn't very long before the lady at the desk called, "Mrs. Bradley, you can go in now." Since only one parent was permitted to accompany the sick person, my wife, like just about every mother, lovingly assumed that task. As they disappeared through the double doors of the emergency room, I bowed my head and whispered another prayer.

It's a helpless feeling — waiting, waiting, waiting.

I glanced through several magazines that lay scattered across the rows of blue molded chairs in the waiting room. The big hand on the clock seemed to move slower than usual, the occasional steps of someone walking echoed through the empty waiting room. I strolled out into the hallway and peered through the windows of the double doors leading to the emergency room. The long hall was empty. Lights shone out from three or four rooms that were lined along the right wall.

Which one is Jeff in, I wondered. How sick is he? Is he receiving the best treatment possible? I realized that early morning is usually not the best time to get sick and be rushed to a hospital for emergency treatment.

Shortly after, Pansy returned to the waiting room and said, with a smile, "Jeff has two doctors, several nurses and other attendants treating him. They are really doing a good job." She returned to Jeff's side to keep vigil — and to minister to him as opportunity arose.

My wife returned again some time later and said I could join her at Jeff's side. Turning into the side room, I saw Jeff lying on a bed with a tube up his nose and being fed intravenously. His eyes were only half-closed but he seemed asleep. His slender body moved restlessly as the fluid entered his veins, bringing stability and calm.

"You have a very sick boy," we were told in the hallway by a doctor clothed in green surgical garb. "We'll have to call in a specialist as soon as possible."

We stayed by our son's side as hospital nurses and doctors monitored his condition. When he had improved sufficiently, they admitted him to a hospital room and we accompanied the attendant as she wheeled him into an elevator and to his room. Two head nurses talked with us in a second floor waiting room, while they made Jeff comfortable.

"The specialist you have is one of the very best. You will be very happy with her work," said one chief nurse. We entered Jeff's room and saw that he was resting comfortably. My wristwatch read 9 a.m. In the other bed was Alvin Jones, a man we were later to find out was nicknamed "Twinkletoes" by the nurses at the hospital. Apparently, he wiggles his toes in his sleep — hence the nickname.

We were informed later that Jeff's sugar count had passed 500 before they brought it under control at 187.

Driving home at 10 a.m. that Sunday morning, my wife and I stopped for breakfast at one of our favorite restaurants. Our tired eyes, which had spent a sleepless night, and our bodies, drained physically and emotionally, found rest in a padded booth.

When our order of eggs, bacon and hash browns was served, we bowed our heads to say grace. In our prayer we thanked God for dedicated servants who minister to the physical needs of the sick. I expressed gratitude for every doctor, nurse, attendant, clerk and other worker at the hospital that helped our son survive and get well.

We talked of the joy of having someone taking care of your loved one who really cares. There are untold thousands of "nameless, faceless" dedicated servants who minister to the sick in every hospital and medical clinic. We are fortunate in Western Wayne County, as are those around this beloved country of ours, to have competent, trained nurses — "Angels of Mercy" — and doctors — skilled surgeons and menders of bodies to minister to the sick.

This column is a tribute to all dedicated people everywhere who minister to the sick. Their "calling" is one of the highest in the world.

Only God can heal a body. But he uses compassionate souls to minister the life-giving knowledge to sick people that they may better enjoy their life on this mortal coil.

Thank God for every one of them.

Rematch: Romulus vs. Willow Run

Willow Run, the No. 1 ranked Class B team in the state, will bring its cage show to Romulus High Friday night and Coach Rod Hanna says his team will be ready.

"It should be an exciting rematch," Hanna said after his team turned back neighboring Belleville last Friday, 85-70. The Eagles also dumped Ann Arbor Pioneer, 88-68, earlier in the week.

"As I said earlier in the season I felt that Willow Run and Ypsilanti have to be among the finest teams in the state, and that prediction has held up. Our players are really looking forward to the rematch with Willow Run and, believe me, if we can contain Jackson (Keith) and Bailey (Johnny) from the boards, we will win."

'Nyet' to Moscow Olympics

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Moscow has known many invaders in its long 800 year history. The Tartars. The Napoleonic armies. Kaiser Wilhelm. The Nazis all have touched this glittering gem on the Moscow River and have been burned.

And now the American athletes must be burned because of politics.

President Carter has asked the IOC (International Olympic Committee) to consider shifting the site of the 1980 Summer Olympics from Moscow, pointing out that the Russian invasion of Afghanistan is a serious threat to world peace and should not be condoned.

Understandably, those in this country who formulate foreign policy are frustrated. With the events in Iran causing an impotent administration an array of incisive headaches and with the Soviets' latest plot to annex Afghanistan into their sphere, there is unrelenting pressure "to do something. Anything."

And, obviously, Carter's plea to boycott the Olympics is one vehicle "to get even for the Russians."

But should our athletes have to pay the price?

"I feel we should not use sports for political gains," points out Judy Marr, Belleville High gymnastics coach who participated in the World Games in Czechoslovakia in 1962. "For four years you train and train in hopes of going, now something like this comes up. It just isn't right."

Albert Toncevich, who is the Commander of the Charles C. LeGrant VFW Post 5229 in Canton, feels that the decision — to compete or not to compete in Moscow — should be an individual decision.

"I feel that the athletes themselves should make that decision," said Toncevich. "It would be up to them if they want to go to Moscow or not. It should not be by a Presidential dictum."

"And I would like to see," Toncevich continued, "all of our elected officials, our politicians and statesmen come out and show unity in this difficult decision. Whatever decision is eventually agreed upon."

"Our athletes deserve our support," Toncevich added.

Carter has given the Russians a month to pull out of Afghanistan and Lothar Konietzko, who personally has seen how the "Soviet psychology" works, says that the Reds would back out and down only, "if they know the threat is for real."

"I don't feel we should participate in the Olympics," Konietzko says, "I do feel we should postpone it — or shift it to some other country as long as there are no signs of a Russian withdrawal from Afghanistan."

"I have sympathy for our athletes — or any other athlete in the world — who is confronted with such a crucial decision. However, if we do not stand united in this crisis, Russia will never get our message," Konietzko said.

Konietzko, who is a veteran photographer and has served the Associated Newspapers as such for more than 25 years, lost his homestead near the Baltic Sea to the Russians after World War II.

I personally have mixed feelings about all of this. I feel we know that the man in Red Square isn't getting the truth from the men in the Kremlin. Could our athletes get the message across — or am I being to naive?

If Presidential threats don't work — must we fight another war to prove a point?

Romulus North to hold baseball registration

The first 100 Romulus North Little League baseball players who sign up for the 1980 season will be the recipients of University of Detroit basketball tickets.

Romulus North will hold its registration between 1 and 4 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 2 at the Romulus Library. Players in the age range of 8 to 18 are welcomed to sign up for the season.

There is a $20 per family registration donation and further information may be obtained by telephoning Gail Vernatt at 722-6438.

At Belleville High Tigers are coming

Baseball fans will have an opportunity to ask Mark Fidrych how his arm really feels and Rick Leach why he prefers baseball over football when the Detroit Tigers take on a Belleville High faculty team in a benefit basketball game.

The game is scheduled for 7 p.m., Friday, Jan. 25 in the Belleville High gym.

"We're trying to raise some money for a new electronic timing device for our swim program," said

Belleville High swim coach Sam Vecchy, "that's the reason why we have set up this game."

"I know baseball and basketball fans will enjoy meeting with these personalities."

Along with Fidrych and Leach, the Tigers will also be represented by Milt Wilcox, Champ Summers, Kirk Gibson, Dave Rozema and Mickey Stanley.

All of that for the price of a $2 donation.

Cherry Hill is back in contention

Another week like the last one and Cherry Hill Coach Dave Bogataj won't have anything to worry about. His Spartans jolted previously undefeated Riverside 59-55, cutting a 7-game win streak last Tuesday and trounced Taylor Kennedy 69-42 to move up to second place, a game behind Dearborn Heights Crestwood (5-1).

"It was a real good week for us," Bogataj commented. "We played defense the way I know we can and we also put the points on the board."

"But," the Spartan coach warned, "it's not over yet. We still have a rough road ahead."

In the showdown with Riverside, the Spartans came out cold and trailed 12-4 as Reb guard Dave Kolsar and D.J. Hammerschmidt gave the Cherry Hill defense a lot to think about.

The Spartans came back slowly — trailing 24-17 at intermission and 38-33 for three periods — they erupted behind the balanced scoring of Gary Williams, Kevin Smith and Aaron Gregory to take command 26-17 in the fourth quarter and go over the top by four points.

Williams had 17 points and a dozen rebounds, while Gregory and Smith split 24 points and Greg Thompson managed to get in a handful of assists.

Kolsar led all scorers with 20 points and Hammerschmidt had 15.

Cherry Hill got the job done early against Van Kosteigan's Kennedy quintet. The Spartans owned a 24-10 first period lead before going on to an easy 69-42 triumph. Gregory's 17 points topped all scorers and teammates Williams and Bill Walters added 15 and 12 points.

the Tigers in the midst of the battle as they split 12 points between them.

Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers closed the gap to 49-45 at halftime, but the Eagles came back and outscored them 18-11 and 18-15 in the final two periods to chalk up the victory.

"We gambled in the final period," Niemi said, "and got burned. We went for win, and they came up with some key baskets. The final score doesn't indicate the closeness of the game."

Casey, who finished with 29 points, paced the winners. Holifield and Darryl Lewis tossed in 27 and 18 with Lewis collecting 10 of his points in the last period surge.

Blackmon's 16 points stood up as the Belleville high, while Johnson added 14, Jeff Patterson sank 13 and Scott Straight, who also had an excellent game off the boards, contributed 11.

Romulus rallied from a 17-14 deficit to a 45-40 lead at intermission before throttling Pioneer 88-68 thanks to a 23-11 edge in the third period. Holifield again came through with 14 of his game high 30 points in the second period while Casey scored six of his 17 points and wound up with 13 rebounds.

Romulus shot 53 percent from the floor, hitting on 39 of 73 attempts, and they also made 10 of 13 at the free throw line.

Belleville chalked up its first Suburban 8 Conference win of the campaign at the expense of Trenton 73-68 as the Tigers outscored the Trojan quintet 43-22 with the help of Patterson and Straight.

Close all the way — the game was deadlocked at 15-all after the first period — Belleville moved out in front 39-35 at halftime and held a three-point edge, 51-48, for three periods.

"We managed to get our fast break going," Niemi said, "and that was possible because our kids took command of the boards."

Stretching a point
Knifing between Belleville's Charles Blackmon (21) and Scott Straight (at right), Romulus' Dave Casey stretches for the basket to lay in two of his 29 points that lifted the Eagles to an 85-70 victory Friday night.

Salem is best at N. Farmington

Putting away tournament titles as if they were gold, Plymouth Salem added the North Farmington Invitational Wrestling crown to its latest achievements.

With three gold medalists — Mark Ross (126), Jerry Valchine (138), and Stan Snider — Coach Ron Krueger's grapplers amassed 202½ points to pick up their sixth major tournament championship of the season.

Salem is also undefeated in dual meet competition and isn't expected to jeopardize that streak until it meets Trenton in the league finale.

Franklin has share of lead

After a shaky start Livonia Franklin finds itself atop of the Northwest Suburban Conference basketball circuit. It is a lofty position shared with North Farmington.

However, one of the two teams will have to vacate the top spot Friday night. The two will meet to settle the first place issue and Franklin will have the home court edge.

"I knew we were a good ball club and I felt that in time we would jell," said Franklin Coach Jim McIntyre after his Patriots destroyed Thurston 86-52 for their third conference win in four starts. "The kids are looking forward to their meeting with North."

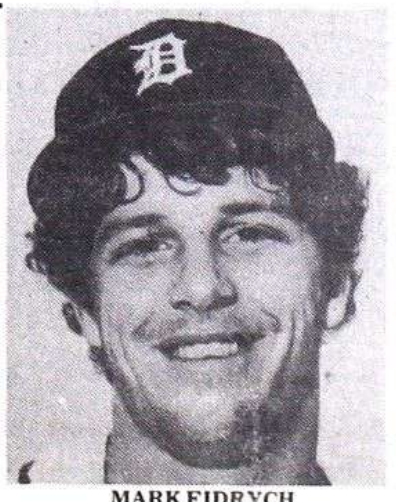

Franklin jumped on Thurston early, building up a 27-12 lead before settling for a 43-33 halftime advantage. The Livonians p away with a 20-9 third period.

Jon McCarthy and Jeff Weber paced Franklin's scoring attack with 20 and 19 points, while Bob Gohl chipped in 13. Weber also contributed 16 rebounds and Tim Prsyiecki nabbed 11.

With Weber collecting 15 points, Franklin won a heart-stopped, 64-62, from Farmington in an out-of-league contest earlier in the week.

On the mats

Wayne, Glenn face crucial tests

Injury-riddled Wayne Memorial and Westland John Glenn will return to the mats on Thursday, facing two crucial opponents.

Glenn, coming off of impressive victories over Midland Dow and Flushing in a double dual which the Rockets hosted last week, clash with title-hopeful North Farmington, while Wayne tangles with Monroe. Monroe and Wayne share the Great Lakes 8 Conference championship. Coach John Wood's Zebras will head into the duel without the services of at least four key performers who are on the injury list. Meanwhile, Glenn also is preparing to compete in the prestigious Detroit Catholic Central Invitational to be held Saturday at noon.

"This tournament ranks among the best in the state," said Mike

Rodriguez, DCC coach. "We will have some of the finest prep wrestlers competing for honors."

Among teams that will be at Catholic Central is Temperance

Bedford, the two-time defending Class A state champ, who will be hard-pressed to repeat. One of the reasons is an outstanding Hazel Park contingent that is eyeing the top perch.

Wayne tankers rip Riverview

Wayne Memorial opened the defense of its Great Lakes 8 Conference swim title by whipping Riverview for the last time in a dual league meet.

Coach Jim McPartlin's tankers swept eight out of a possible 11 first places en route to a 57-26 victory over the Pirates who are scheduled to join the Huron Conference a year from now.

Earlier in the week Wayne spanked Ypsilanti 107-65 in an out of conference affair. The Zebras will take on Taylor Truman Thursday night at 7:30 for their first home meet and second league confrontation of the season.

Mike Soules posted a 52-8, first best time ever, to win the 100-yard freestyle for Wayne against Riverview.

Conoly-O'Brien marry in Georgia church

The First Baptist Church in Tifton, Ga. was reserved Dec. 28 for the evening ceremony which joined Nancy Lynn O'Brien and Embert Jackson Conoly Jr. in holy matrimony.

The double ring rite was read by Mr. Steven Cason of Lakeland, Fla. before a candlelit altar appointed with spiral candelabras and an arrangement of white gladioli, red carnations and holly. White poinsettias accented the sides of the altar while white bows and sprigs of holly marked the family pews.

Organ music for the wedding was played by Mrs. Sally Tomme of Tifton who accompanied Mrs. Doris Cooksey of Tifton as she sang "We've Only Just Begun," "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The daughter of former Romulus residents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Henry O'Brien of Pace, Fla., the bride was escorted to the sanctuary by her father. For her wedding day she selected a gown of white crystal organza over bridal taffeta. Designed with a princess waistline and teardrop neckline, the bodice of Alencon lace was sprinkled with seed pearls. The full A-line skirt, which extended into a chapel train, was edged with a ruffle to match those used on the cuffs of the long sleeves.

A little cap of pearled Alencon lace secured the bride's veil which was made of sheer illusion and cut in three tiers. Completing her bridal finery was a bouquet of white butterfly roses, baby's breath, springeri and satin picot ribbons which covered the bride's white lace Bible.

For "something old," the bride chose to carry a handkerchief given to her as a young girl by her maternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Hallie Caldwell of Belleville. Her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Glennis Hawley of Flat Top, W. Va., provided the "something blue," a handkerchief edged in blue lace.

The bride's best friend from Romulus, Laurie Bittenbender, served as maid of honor. Others in the bridal coterie were Stasi O'Brien of Allen Park, sister of the bride; Nancy Copeland of Brookfield, Ga. and Becky Overton of Tifton, Ga. and junior bridesmaid, Amy Sloan, the bride's cousin from Newport.

The senior attendants donned emerald green gowns, tucked sprigs of baby's breath in their hair and carried nosegays of carnations interspersed with green holly.

Holding a basket of mixed flowers, the junior bridesmaid was dressed in a pageant frock of emerald green nylon over taffeta.

The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Jack Conoly Sr. of Tifton, Ga., chose his father to be best man. Others on the esquire side were Greg Jones, Davy Davis and Rodney McBrayer, all of Tifton, Ga.

Mrs. O'Brien chose for her daughter's wedding a formal gown of powder blue chiffon to which she pinned her corsage of white butterfly roses and baby's breath. The bridegroom's mother appeared in a toe-touching rust gown with a corsage of cymbidium orchids pinned at the shoulder.

Grandmothers present for the happy occasion were Mrs. Henry Jenkins of West Detroit; Mrs. Glennis Hawley of Flat Top, W. Va., formerly of Romulus, and Mrs. Maude Conoly.

Some 125 guests gathered for the dinner-dance reception which followed at Spring Hill Country Club. Debbie McNaull of Tifton took charge of registering the guests. Mrs. Nancy Raynor, sister of the bridegroom, served the 4-tiered wedding cake. Two of the bridegroom's cousins, Beth and Kay Conoly, assisted with the groom's cake.

Before taking up residence in Athens, Ga., the young couple honeymooned at Panama City Beach, Fla.

The new Mrs. Conoly attended Romulus schools midway through her junior year and graduated from Tift County High School in Tifton, Ga. in 1979. At the present time she is a student at Abraham Baldwin Agriculture College in Tifton.

Her husband, a 1976 alumnus of Tiftarea Academy, is attending the University of Georgia in Athens.

The bridegroom's parents, the E. Jack Conolys, played host at the rehearsal dinner held at the Ramada Inn of Tifton. The bridal couple chose this occasion to present gifts to their attendants.

Easy Lemon Cheese Squares

Informal entertaining is part of everyday living, even after the holidays, and it's a good time to focus on easy desserts for just such occasions.

Keeping freezer and cupboard stocked with versatile food items is an ideal way to create a special treat for company situations. A container of Cool Whip non-dairy whipped topping provides instant, easy garnishes for a variety of exciting desserts.

Fold the topping into instant pudding and pie filling, prepared with a few added ingredients, and you have these Lemon Cheese Squares, a dessert that looks as if it took hours rather than minutes to assemble. The final serving touches come at the table when you top each square with a generous spoonful of canned cherry pie filling and a dollop of whipped topping.

Lemon Cheese Squares

9 whole graham crackers, halved
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1½ cups cold milk
1 package (6-serving size) lemon-flavor instant pudding and pie filling
1 container (4 oz.) frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 can (21 oz.) cherry pie filling

Arrange 9 of the cracker halves in bottom of 8-inch or 9-inch square pan, cutting crackers, if necessary. Beat cream cheese in bowl until very soft. Gradually add ½ cup of the milk, blending until smooth. Add remaining milk and the pudding mix; beat as directed on package. Fold in 1 cup of the whipped topping.

Spread half the pudding mixture over the crackers. Add another layer of crackers; top with remaining pudding mixture. Chill at least 30 minutes. Cut into squares. Top with cherry pie filling and garnish with remaining whipped topping. Makes 9 servings.

Home Arts Club holds game night

The first meeting of the new year for the Home Arts Club took place in the home economics room at North Junior High School. President Marilyn Prill conducted the business meeting with 14 members and three guests, Helen Jankowski, Phyllis Young and Mary Cast, attending. Program chairman Charlotte Budd announced that local attorney William Hidenfelter would be guest speaker at the Feb. 11 meeting, his topic to be "Wills and Other Legal Information." The program for March, which had been pending, will be "Low Protein Diets" presented by Donette Miller.

Because January weather usually causes poor attendance (very much in contrast this year), the evening consisted of games of Uno and Bunco with prizes being won by Shar Tator and Marilyn Prill.

Hostesses Jean Ferguson, Loretta Long and Claire Steinman later served strawberry cake, coffee, tea, nuts and mints.

Quotes worth quoting . . .

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Along with "Hold on" (when I'm calling long distance) and "We can't afford it" (not only from BG from those who obviously CAN afford it) the phrase I most dislike hearing is, "Oh, you shouldn't have done it" when I present a gift or do a courtesy. Darn it, I obviously am doing so of my own volition, WANT to do so and want it received willingly and happily.

Why people accept a gift or token action with that attitude has always baffled me... and still does. I guess it's because I am truly pleased and honored when someone thinks enough of me to share a little gift or favor.

What brought this particular subject to mind was a thoughtful bon voyage gift presented to me over coffee at The Golden Boy last week. I was tickled pink my friend had even been thinking of me let alone thinking of a going-away goodie.

My reaction to her nice gesture was, "I sure won't say 'you shouldn't have done this' because I LOVE it and am delighted you thought of me." Then I proceeded to tell her how much "that particular phrase" always effected me and, friend of mine, I'm sorry you're being subjected to this once again.

I guess maybe "little unexpected gifts" was in the back of my mind all along, though, since for the past week I've been admiring a somewhat delinquent Christmas cactus which suddenly decided to burst into glorious coral blooms on my window sill.

This lovely plant had been a hostess gift from a co-worker one year ago and is continuing to give me pleasure each day that it adds color or greenery to my home. And as I admire it, I naturally think of that nice person who made it possible.

And isn't it exciting when guests cross your doorway with something "homemade" — a creation from their own kitchen? Over the years we've accumulated several apothecary jars (very much appreciated) which had come filled with "Nuts 'n Bolts" (that addictive cereal-pretzel-nut mixture), "Buckeyes" (those absolutely marvelous peanut butter balls coated in chocolate), and crunchy homemade granola (full of nutritional nuts and vitamin-packed raisins.)

Other reminders of niceties in the past are cute tins and containers which'd held Christmas cookies, peanut brittle, caramel corn, plump cashews, fudge and fruitcake. And a very pretty Christmas motif plate which had been crowned with a still-warm coffeecake made by a friend when she learned of my non-baking-oven-plight prior to the holidays one year ago.

All these little mementoes are constant reminders of those who cared enough to want to share something "special" with our family.

Hostess gifts are a little bit of thoughtfulness I'd highly recommend to those attending a house party of any kind (other than a gift-giving occasion such as shower, open house or reception).

The gift need not be expensive or elaborate, especially if you gear it to the season — a simple bunch of posies from your flower garden or a basket of mixed goodies from the vegetable sector, pumpkin (or pumpkins) for the younger set who usually have a hand in family affairs or perhaps a jug of chilled apple cider or even a bag of apples.

The thought behind the gesture is what it's really all about and the fact that people "care to share" with us.

Several weeks back I discovered that one of my pet writers, Robert Ludlum, also used the pen name, Jonathan Ryder, and passed that information onto others who dig the suspense school of writing.

While in the library last week I checked out that "R" shelving and, sure 'nuff, there he was with a lone book, "Trevayne". I'm three-quarters of the way through and LOVE it but can't understand why he'd want to use a pseudonym for something so interesting and well written.

In this bit of fiction, Ryder-Ludlum tells the story of Andrew Trevayne who is picked for the extraordinary task of finding out who controls the government of the United States; the Pentagon? a General Motors? an IT & I? the Mafia?

A job unlike any other, his work is investigating the companies under contract to the Defense Department; what they are getting and why. Despite the fact that unknowns attack his children and wife with frightening unorthodox methods, he tackles Genesse Industries and finds himself bucking a company that is a law unto itself with powers reaching not only to the Pentagon but to the courts, to labor, to Congress — and to the White House itself.

Absorbing and interesting.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY — Jan. 23... is National Handwriting Day, a time to encourage more legible writing. So proclaimed because John Hancock was born on this date in 1737.

In 1845 Congress ruled that all national elections take place on the first Tuesday following the first Monday in November.

In 1906 readers of the Ladies Home Journal were advised that a good shampoo for dark hair consisted of one pint hot rain water, one ounce spirits of rosemary and the yolk of one egg. (Let me know how you make out, all you brunettes out there.)

In 1937 Edgar Bergen drew up a will making Charlie, his famous dummy, the beneficiary of a $10,000 trust fund "to forever care for and keep Charlie McCarthy in good and serviceable condition and repair."

IF IT HASN'T ALREADY HIT, we're just bound to get some winter weather before Easter vacation rolls around and we can all head south. When those zero temps arrive and you hurry in for something "warming" you might want to try this simple concoction which comes from Kapnick's Orchards in Tecumseh.

HOT SPICED CIDER

(A great winter treat)

1 gallon fresh cider
6 tablespoons honey
3 sticks cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon whole cloves

Simmer spices in cider, remove before serving. Spices may be put in top of percolator and cider perked. (Some folks like to add a couple lumps of butter as well.) It's delicious!

THE BOTTOM LINE: A bore is a person who, when you ask him how he is, tells you.

Japan gets involved

YFU offers special scholarships

This summer 275 American high school students will live with Japanese families, 125 of them on special scholarships made available through the generosity of more than 60 Japanese and American corporations and foundations.

More than $40,000 in partial scholarships will be awarded to young people, aged 14 to 18, who are accepted for the summer homestay program in Japan. The scholarships, which will be awarded on the basis of need and merit, range from $100 to $400 and can cover almost one-third of the program fee.

Youth for Understanding, a nonprofit organization headquartered in Washington, D.C., and the largest high school student exchange program in the world, sponsors the program and administers the scholarships.

Donors to the Japan Scholarship

Program include many well-known American and Japanese concerns, among them the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, Japan Foundation, Japan Bankers Association, Japan Foreign Trade Council, Datsun, Toshiba, Honda, SONY, Seiko, Toyota, Expo Fund and Panasonic.

According to Youth for Understanding President John Richardson, Jr., former assistant secretary of state for educational and cultural affairs, the sponsors of the scholarships believe that greater understanding between Japan and the United States will result from giving young Americans the opportunity to live as part of a Japanese family and experience their culture as participants.

Prior to departure, students attend an intensive, 3-day orientation at Stanford University which introduces them to the culture and traditions of Japan," Richardson explains. "The program also includes expense-paid fall weekend seminars for three years following the summer exchange for further study of Japanese life."

Interested students are urged to inquire immediately, since applications now are being received, and scholarship money is being awarded. The final date for applications is March 15. Additional information is available from D. Watson, Youth for Understanding, 3501 Newark St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20016.

Handicappers learn CPR

A new program to teach cardiopulmonary resuscitation—the life-saving technique used to revive victims of cardiac arrest—to the blind and those with other handicaps is being prepared with the cooperation of several agencies throughout the State of Michigan.

Believed to be the first of its kind in Michigan, the program will get underway in February with a 6-hour workshop for course instructors to teach them special techniques necessary to overcome handicaps encountered by a sighted person teaching CPR to a blind person. To test the course for effectiveness, it was taught to a volunteer group of both blind persons and sighted persons who were blindfolded for the duration of the course. The course for the students will consist of 15 hours of instruction in seven different sessions.

The course was developed by volunteers of the Jackson County Heart Unit of the Michigan Heart Association, in cooperation with Districts 11-B1 and 11-C2 of the International Association of Lions Clubs; Michigan Braille Transcribing Service of Jackson, who transcribed instructions into braille; and Comtronics Communications, who developed a special sound system for manikins used in workshops which will denote by sound, if the technique is being practiced correctly.

According to Suzanne Vieta, Jackson County Heart Unit CPR chairman, several specially developed tools will be used in the courses, including tape cassettes, braille instructions and special heart molds which demonstrate the construction of the human heart by use of several differently-textured areas.

For more information about the instructors' course, which will be held in the Jackson area, contact Oliver Wendt, Program Consultant, Michigan Heart Association 16310 W. 12 Mile Road, Southfield 48076, or call (313) 557-9500.

Don't Blame Your Age For Poor Hearing

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

True, all hearing problems are not alike... and some cannot be helped by a hearing aid. But audiologists report that many can. So, send for this free model now, and wear it in the privacy of your own home. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 22686, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

5. Adjournment

Supervisor Demski opened the discussion for the proposed uses of the 1980-81 Block Grant Monies. Explained the Township has $80,000 to use for this year's program. Asked for input from the citizens present.

Mrs. Drake asked what portion had been set aside for drains.

Trustee Morgan suggested the renovation of the Pioneer-Apts. for Senior Citizens.

S. Januszky asked about adding on to the present Community Building for the Senior Citizens.

Mrs. Drake questioned how far in the future a new building would be.

Mr. Alton Shelly asked the Board to give some thought to supporting the Romulus Help Center.

Supervisor Demski explained that the money has been programmed for a three year period, but that does not mean that it cannot be changed.

Engineer Wilhelm advised the Board and citizens present that any building that would be constructed for a Senior Citizen building would have to meet the State Commercial Building Code. This means it would have to be a barrier free design.

The Old Township Hall was suggested for a Senior Citizen Center or a Police Station. It has been agreed that it would be too costly to repair.

Motion by Hoffman, supported by Morgan, the Board look into the cost of tearing down the Old Township Hall and putting up a modular building on the site. Motion carried unanimously.

S. Januszky also suggested perhaps monies could be allocated to asphalt the drive to the Police Department.

Motion by Korotney, supported by Morgan, to adjourn. Meeting adjourned at 8:16 P.M.

Newest Wave Of Smoker Research:
MERIT favored 3 to 1 over high tar brands in tests comparing taste and tar level.

Merit Sweeps New Tests!

Smokers Report: MERIT Taste Matches High Tar Cigarettes.

New taste tests with thousands of smokers prove it.

Proof: A significant majority of smokers rate MERIT taste as good as—or better than—leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Proof: Of the 95% stating a preference, 3 out of 4 smokers chose the MERIT low tar/good taste combination over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed.

MERIT: Proven Long Term Alternative To High Tar Brands.

New national smoker study results prove it.

Proof: The overwhelming majority of MERIT smokers polled feel they didn't sacrifice taste in switching from high tar cigarettes.

Proof: 96% of MERIT smokers don't miss former high tar brands.

Proof: 9 out of 10 enjoy smoking as much since switching to MERIT, are glad they switched, and report MERIT is the best tasting low tar they've ever tried.

You've read the results. The conclusion is clearer than ever: MERIT delivers a winning combination of taste and low tar.

A combination that's attracting more and more smokers every day and—more importantly—satisfying them long term.
